CHAPTER 3

ORGANIZATION, FUNCTIONING AND POWERS OF THE CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEES

A. Organization and functioning of the Consultative Committees

Within the Board of Directors shall be established Consultative Committees, in accordance with Art. 34 of GEO no. 109/2011 on corporate governance in public enterprises and the provisions of Art. 19 Para. (5) of the Articles of Incorporation of the Company, the members thereof being appointed by decision of the Board of Directors.

The Audit Committee and the Nomination and Remuneration Committee are mandatory, as per the legal provisions in force. According to the Articles of Incorporation, the Board of Directors may constitute, by decision, other consultative committees, in various area of expertise, depending on the Company's management needs and strategy.

In order to develop and maintain certain best practices of activity management, within the Board the Directors are established, at present, three committees aimed at supporting it in fulfilling its responsibilities. These committees have consultative role, with organization and functioning rules defined by the present internal regulation.

The Consultative Committees shall include minimum 3(three) non-executive administrators. Each Consultative Committee shall be led by a President, appointed from among its members. At least one member of each consultative committee must be an independent non-executive administrator. The Audit Committee and the Nomination and Remuneration Committee shall include solely independent members.

The Committees shall convene at least twice every year, or whenever required, upon the initiative of the President of the Committee, or on the request of any member, usually at the Company's headquarters or in any other location jointly selected, in order to fulfill the tasks falling within their competence. The Audit Committee shall convene at least four times per year.

The meetings of the Consultative Committees shall be deemed as statutory if at least 2 (two) members are present (directly or by proxy), and the proposals/recommendations submitted to the Board of Directors (required to substantiate its decisions) shall be adopted by the majority of votes expressed (including the votes expressed by proxy).

The Company's management staff and/or other experts may be invited to attend the meetings, so that they may contribute to solving the issues submitted for review, as may be required.

After analyzing the issues subject to the attention of the Consultative Committees/Consultative Committee, by the executive management/administrative, as appropriate, a note/report shall be drawn up to the BoD, including statements regarding activities (consultations, surveys, etc.) and proposals, measures, recommendations, endorsement, as appropriate. The report shall be submitted to the Board of Directors in due time, before its meeting.

The mandate of the Consultative Committees' members shall be valid for the period in which they have the capacity of administrators and for the same duration as the one of administrator, usually of 4 years. The mandate of the Consultative Committees' members who have fulfilled their duties accordingly may be renewed, if the mandate of administrator is also renewed.

In case of vacancy within the Consultative Committees, a new member shall be appointed from among the administrators, by complying with the legal provisions, so any change in the nominal structure of non-executive administrators within the Board of Directors shall be followed by Decision of the Board of Directors regarding the nomination of the members of the Consultative Committee, namely determining the composition thereof.

The Company's executive management shall ensure access of the members of the Consultative Committees to any data necessary to fulfill the responsibilities thereof.

The members of the Consultative Committees are bound to exercise their mandate as a prudent, diligent and loyal administrator, in the interest of the Company. All members of committees, as well as guests to their meetings shall keep confidentiality of all information obtained in relation to the documents reviewed, as well as to comply with the privileged information regime.

Each member of the Committees should ensure strict confidentiality of all information that he receives on the performance of its functions and shall maintain strict confidentiality of all such information to the extent that they were not disclosed to the public otherwise.

Administrators have duty of loyalty to the Company and shall endeavor to avoid conflicts of interest, defined as situations where their personal interests and professional goals interfere with taking measures in the interest of the Company and the shareholders and their role as Administrator.

Members of the Committees should notify the president of the committee and the other members of any conflicts of interest which have arisen or may arise, and should refrain from taking part in the discussion (including by not being present where this does not render the meeting non-quorate) and from voting on the adoption of a resolution on the issue which gives rise to such conflict of interest.

The Administrators are required to declare any actual or potential conflict of interest at the start of the Committee meetings and not to take part in any deliberation of the Committee on operations in respect of which the conflict of interest exists.

If a transaction on which an administrator has an actual or potential conflict of interests can not be avoided, the transaction or commercial relationship with the Company will be addressed with appropriate caution and in a fully transparent way.

The powers and responsibilities of the Consultative Committees shall be established by the Board of Directors.

The following consultative committees shall be established within the Board of Directors:

- The Audit Committee;
- The Nomination and Remuneration Committee;
- The Committee for Development and Relation with the Investors and Authorities.

Convening to the meetings of consultative committees are usually submitted five days before the meeting and contain information on the agenda, date, time and place/way of conduct (at the Company's headquarters, conference call other place agreed upon). Depending on the topics, the Consultative committees may meet in joint session.
